MOTION

1. Need to prioritize sustainable youth-oriented Human Capital Development for Long-Term Socio-Economic Growth

Sponsor: Sen. Bassey, Gershom Henry (Cross River South)

The Senate:

Notes that Nigeria's current economic growth patterns are not providing adequate employment and quality of life, especially for young persons who lack necessary skills and training;

Observes that by Q4 of 2020, Nigeria's unemployment rate increased to 33.3% from 27% in Q2 and Nigeria now ranks 2nd highest on the unemployment global list. 1 in 3 of Nigeria's 69.7 work force are unemployed, consisting of predominantly young persons aged 25-44;

Aware that food inflation has accelerated at its highest pace in 15 years, worsening the economic conditions of millions of Nigerian youths, of which more than 55 million now live in extreme poverty;

Saddened that in the wake of the one-year anniversary of the #Endsars protests, many of our youth still feel despondent as statistics show that poverty, unemployment and insecurity are on a steady rise;

Aware that countries like China prioritized large-scale investments in physical and human capital during the 1960s and 1970s, focusing on areas such as education, technology and industrial job creation. Today, China has almost eliminated illiteracy among its 1.3 billion population. In contrast, Nigeria's 2022 budget only proposes 5.4% and 3.42% for education and healthcare sectors respectively, posing implementation challenges to lift 100 million Nigerians out of poverty by 2030; and

Recognizes that government needs to target the youth population as a unique resource and economic force for high-income growth and development, by providing youth-oriented economic interventions, technological adaptability, foster entrepreneurship and job creation in agriculture and manufacturing sectors in budgetary allocations.

Accordingly resolves to:

- i. Direct its Committee on Sports and Youth Development to evaluate current provisions of youth-oriented policies and government interventions, in order to ensure sustainability, human capital development and youth empowerment;*
- ii. Urge the Federal Ministry of Sports and Youth Development to prioritize youth development initiatives in its development plan; and*
- iii. Direct the Committee on Appropriations to ensure budgetary allocations that are strategically focused on projects that sufficiently empower the youth.*
